PLANT CLOSED INDEFINITELY

Attorney For Rockland Packing Company Says It Is Due To Sabotage and Attempted Arson

Nathan Thompson of Portland, attorney for the Rockland Packing Company, announced at 10 o'clock this morning that the plant in Rockland is closed and that the company has no future plans for its operation at this time.

He revealed that sabotage on the part of someone with the plant on the first day of the strike has forced this step. A hammer thrown into one of the two flaking machines has put the machine completely out of operation for the season. Every effort has been made to replace the damaged parts but it is impossible. At present, the plant could operate only at 50% of capacity were it to resume operations.

Roughly figuring, should the plant have operated at capacity until Nov. 1, the city would have received near $164,000 in wages, and for supplies, fish, boat maintenance and repairs and plant maintenance.

"Your mystery steamer of August 23 was the former Bath ferry, Ferdinand Gorges" writes Mayor Bill MacDougall of Middleboro, Mass., and as usual, he was right. The Gorges, now renamed Pioneer, is in service as the largest and one of the most powerful tugs on the Mississippi.

The management, according to Mr. Thompson, regrets the necessity for this step, but it was brought about by the crippling of the plant's machinery by some individual who is not exactly known at this time.

The plant employed a total of 235 persons and had an average weekly payroll of between $7,900 and $8,000 during the packing season.

The weekly purchase of fish from weir owners averaged 10,000 bushels for which they paid an average of $1 per bushel or $10,000 every week. Incidental expenses of the plant placed another $1000 per week in the cash drawers of Rockland merchants.

The store, newly renovated, is opening while only partially stocked for customer's convenience due to the fact that hard-to-get tires and tubes are available. Eventually it will carry the full Goodrich line of Auto and home accessories, major and small electrical equipment, bottled gas, tools etc. A tire repair and recapping department will be maintained, reached through the large service yard on Orient street.

Mrs. Compton will be in charge of the office and Roland Richards of Thomaston will be service man.

Welcome To Warship

Will Be Extended By the City When Destroyer Vogelsang Arrives

Commander G. M. Slonim, USN, announces that he expects to arrive for public visiting hours aboard the 2200-ton destroyer, USS Vogelsang, which will be in Rockland harbor for the State of Maine Grocers' Association convention Sept. 6-9.

The ship is expected to arrive at Rockland sometime during the afternoon of the 6th at which time Earle Perry of the Grocers' Association and Osgood Gilbert of the City Council will board the ship and extend official greetings.

Visiting hours for the public will be announced by the commanding officer upon the arrival of the ship.

A New Store

The new firm of Compton's Auto and Home Supply is open at 17 Park street with R. J. Compton, a veteran of 4 years service and a long time employee of the B. F. Goodrich Co. in charge.

He Walked Away

Convict Employed At Prison Farm Still At Large

Warden Francis J. McCabe of the Maine State Prison reports that a convict, Vincent Duguay, 36, of Mexico, Me., walked away from the Prison Farm at South Warren some time before 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Duguay had been sentenced to two to four years by Oxford County Superior Court in March of 1946 and was committed immediately.

When last seen, he was dressed in the usual prison blue denim clothing, consisting of dungarees and frock. He may have been wearing a dark maroon shirt when he left the farm. He is 5 foot 7 1/2 inches in height and weighs 185 pounds, has brown hair and eyes and is dark complexioned.

NOW . . . a better tube to match the tire that
OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

Ask for the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown tube
Ever notice how a toy balloon will shrink to half its size over night, even though the stem is tightly sealed? Scientists explain how the air works its way through the rubber, but the point is, the same thing happens in a smaller degree with most all inner tubes.
B. F. Goodrich is now making a new tube that cuts the escape of air. It holds air many times longer than prewar tubes.
Constant air pressure gives tires better mileage and lessens the chances of damage from cuts and bruises. The new B. F. Goodrich tube is tougher . . . resists tearing better. If punctured, is less likely to split or be seriously injured.
For quicker delivery of both the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES and the tube made to go with it, see us soon.

The Pirates scored first in the third when Holden scored and went to second on a sacrifice by Allen. Miller drove Holden home with a single and Bo himself scored on a long single by Karl.

Stewart was hit by LaCrosse in Thomaston's third and on two infield outs scored the only Thomaston run.

The Pirates added their third run in the seventh when "Bo" Miller slammed a long double to left field, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a bunt by Billings.

Miller, with a double and single, led the hitters of both teams, while Felt and Staples and Miller and Billings performed in big league style in the infield. The score:

Receipts Were Heavy

Blueberry Shipments At West Rockport Required 130 Trucks

In spite of the poor season the blueberry receipts at the headquarters in West Rockport exceeded those in former years.

For several days, the amount of berries received was 45½ tons, three tons more than received in any one day during any previous season. This breaking of the records is attributed to the increase in membership of the association. Manager Philip Davis believes that had the crop been normal, berries received daily at the height of the season, would have amounted to 90 tons.

Fresh pack of berries for Scholick Brothers of Archbald, Penn., was completed last week. During the entire season, berries have been shipped to the Chandler River Cannery Cooperative at Jonesboro, and this shipment will continue to the end of the season. Quality of the berries has been good.

Berries for the fresh freeze pack were placed in the cans at the field, 5000 flat freezer boxes containing 30 pounds each, for a part of the shipment, and the balance in 22-pound round cans.

Because of the size of the shipment during the times that large amount came in, the crew of three assisting Manager Davis and the crew of eight for Scholick Brothers, worked long hours, many nights until midnight and even later, to get all the berries out. At 130 trucks waiting at the receiving and weighing warehouse parked on both sides of the road, waiting for unloading, inspection and weighing then loading on the big semi-trailers for the 17-hour trek to Archbald.

Membership in the Blueberry Growers, has in the last year increased to 170.

The cooperative has bought the Mount Pleasant Granite Hall building at West Rockport and has repaired the structure. For the season, cleaning machines were set up in that building and used. It is planned to add a packing shed, where berries may be packed in any way the consumer may desire.

To The Rescue

Coast Guard Boats Were Far From Idle On Labor Day

The Coast Guard rescue tug, Snohomish, is at sea with the O'Hara trawler, Notre Dame in tow and is searching for the Bernice & Bessie, which asked for aid during the night.

Glen Cove Man Commits Suicide In a Local Hotel By Unusual Method

Kenneth Ogier, 38, of Glen Cove committed suicide sometime between midnight Saturday and 6 a. m. Sunday in a local hotel where he had registered for the night. Dr. Charles D. North, Knox County medical examiner, declared the man a suicide by the inhalation of chloroform fumes.

It is reported that he was found with a pound bottle of chloroform clutched in his hands and held to his nose while a blanket was placed over his head to keep the fumes from escaping.

There were no papers on the body by which he could be identified. Considerable investigation was required by the police before he was positively identified.

The body was removed to the Russell Funeral Home, from which private funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Camden.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ida Ogier and his father, Clarence Ogier of Camden, and a brother, Earl Ogier of Rockport.

He was a friendly chat and gossip, the highlight of it all being the possibility that Mrs. Teel will come and teach our school again this year.

Surry Theatre

The rollicking melodrama "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," enlivened with songs and dances of the wicked Nineties, opens this week as Charles O. Carey's concluding production at the Surry Theatre, running for nine straight evenings, to Sept. 4, with a matinee Friday. John Malcolm has directed the famous play in the old style, capitalizing on all the original stark tragedy, fisticuffs and duels. Barnard Hughes, who gave such a polished performance as the epigram-spouting lover in "Importance of Being Earnest," takes off both his spats and dignity to recreate the role of guzzling Joe Morgan, whose love of the bottle leads him slowly and waveringly down the ladder of misfortune. Her First Volume

Vinalhaven Author's Work
"An Afternoon" Wins
Critics' Acclaim

Though these communities are not mentioned by name, Rockland, Vinalhaven and other Penobscot Bay communities form the background of several of the short stories in the book, "An Afternoon" by Elizabeth Parsons Warner of Vinalhaven, published by Viking Press. For several years in the pages of The New Yorker, Harper's Bazaar, and other magazines the story telling gifts of Mrs. Warner, who writes under her maiden name of Elizabeth Parsons, have been unfolding. In this distinguished first volume many of these stories are included, as well as several heretofore unpublished.

Maine people will enjoy particularly the stories with a Maine background, "The Difference" with its action taking place on one of the old "Boston Boats," "Snow in the Air," with a Boston & Maine coach enroute to Maine as its setting; "The Island," "Behold the Hebrides" and others. The Sunday "New York Times" says of this book: "It is blessed indeed in a time of stress and over emphasis, to come upon short stories that are quiet and swift as water running under the earth. Having met Miss Parsons' stories before, and always with pleasure, this reader has become gradually more aware of her many-fold endowments as a writer. This is a well-traveled collection, for Miss Parsons' characters are equally at home on the Maine coast, at the Irish hunt, or in the New York apartment where she chooses to place them. Her people, as varied as their settings, are as varied as their settings. There are timorous, expectant young girls, and tired, bitter wives, and bachelors on the brink of awareness, and a sinister old gentleman—each one arrested as if in midair like a dancer photographed at the apex of a leap.

The writers who come most readily to mind as kin to Miss Parsons are Katherine Mansfield and Elizabeth Bowen," continues the New York Times. "Their common denominators seem to be unswerving rectitude and uncanny sensitivity that make it possible for them to cope with each experience they write of, no matter how fragmentary, with the same completeness that marks the diagnosis of a patient in a modern hospital."

A foreword to the book states: "Elizabeth Parsons was born in Hartford, Conn., received her formal education in private schools, and has traveled widely in this country as well as in England, Ireland, Switzerland, and the West Indies. Mrs. Parsons has lived and worked at various periods of her life in and near Boston and in Castine. Her home is in Vinalhaven, Me." From 1942 to 1944 she was also a resident of Camden.

Mrs. Martin was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary and of the Ladies of the G. A. R. Services were held Sunday at the Headley funeral home. Dr. C. S. Mitchell officiated. There were many beautiful floral offerings from relatives, neighbors and friends. Interment was made in Ocean View cemetery. The bearers were David Duncan, John McNaughton, J. Martinson, H. L. Coombs. Members of the American Legion attended in a body. Those from out of town to attend the services, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burgess, North Haven; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burgess, Stonington; Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason Scott, Robert Martin, Mrs. Lester Staples, of Swan's Island; Mrs. Austin Scott, Rockland.

Mushrooms weighing over one pound each were found after a recent heavy rain in East Anglia, England.

House Of The Month

The Monthly Small House Club has successfully based the design of this "minimum" house on the current need for small homes that maintain the attractiveness of construction economy and adhere to all the resident requirements of comfortable living.

Economy springs first from the fact that the perimeter is an almost square measuring but thirty feet across the main part and extending to a depth of twenty-six feet permitting this home to be built on a small plot. Then too, the kitchen and bathroom are placed so that the plumbing is back-to-back and the centralized form of heater system eliminates the necessity of a basement. Well directed principals of home planning are reflected in this all-on-one floor plan.

The location of the two bedrooms in the rear effectively reduce undesirable street noises to assure the maximum in quiet seclusion. A full closet, flanked with shelves on either side, is a part of each of these rooms and the really large linen closet stationed in the adjoining hall is a convenience to housewives who wisely count the necessary steps of housework for it is handy to both bedrooms and bath.

A disappearing stairway hugs the ceiling of the semi-hallway and when pulled down their stairway provides access to the attic storage room.

Double exposure, prevalent as it is in all rooms, snaps the living room into vibrant life and adds the advantages of cross ventilation. There is ample wall space to permit various arrangements of furniture. A side door opens onto the garden porch which may be screened or glazed if preferred. A convenient guest closet stands next to the front entry, making a total of five closets in this house.

Stop in at the Rockland Loan & Bldg. Assn. for further details and a free colored sketch and floor plan of this and many former Houses-of-the-Month. Specifications, material lists, colored posters and complete 1-4" blueprints are also available for your guidance.

Union Herd Inspected

H. A. Hawes of Union, has recently had his herd inspected and classified for type. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces. The inspection was conducted by G. H. Cairns, College Park, Md., one of the nine officials appointed by the association to do this work in the United States.

Among the animals classified in this herd, four were designated "very good"—the second highest score an animal can receive; and four scored "good plus." The type classification, combined with a production testing program, is used as a means of proving sires and locating outstanding brood cow families in an owner's herd.

Camp Tanglewood

Happy Girlies Turned Home
Regretfully As the Season Closed

Camp Tanglewood saw the conclusion of eight weeks of fun and enjoyment Sunday. The day was set up in a program so that the parents were able to see camp activities in action. The senior unit did a short play, "Meet Your Relatives," under the direction of Janie King, counselor from China.

After the play, the campers held their usual Sunday morning services. Miss Gladys Russell, camp director, led the services and gave a very interesting talk, including information on several of the camp traditions. The units each sang a hymn, the Fidgets doing, "We Are Climbing Sunshine Mountain," and the Middlers doing, "Father of Lights." The Senior unit sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

The water parent, This was presented by many of the campers under the direction of Evelyn Foster, assisted by Frances Taylor, both of Bangor. The pageant was the story of the Wood Nymphs, and their beautiful queen, Narcissa, played by Cynthia Jenness of Orono.

The parents had dinner with the campers. This was served cafeteria style. After dinner, all the campers left, many already making plans for returning to Tanglewood for the 1947 season.

Thursday afternoon, seniors and Mrs. I. G. Stetson of Bangor went on a hike up Ragged Mountain, and the evening the entire camp celebrated the closing of camp with an elaborate banquet. Each table was a comic strip, and each camper became a character of that "funny." The tables were decorated in accordance with their theme.

The Rotary Club

Members Hear About City Planning From An Expert's Standpoint

Rotarians and their guests had a rare opportunity to learn about zoning from an expert in that field, Plavett Shurtlett, Dr. Shurtlett is professor of the City Planning at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and General Counsel of the American Planning and Civic Association. The fact that he is a Summer resident of East Boothbay, made him available.

He commended Rockland's zoning ordinance as a "bang-up good ordinance" for which its author is entitled to a wreath.

He pointed out that compared to other zoning ordinances it is conservative in its requirements, and that in time, as the people of Rockland had experience with it, they would demand still higher standards.

Zoning, as the speaker pointed out, is first of all a protection on property values against intruding uses undesirable in that location; second, that it is a stabilizing factor in real estate values; and third, that it is the democratic way for people to operate to improve their city and provide the best possible conditions for healthy living and prosperous business and industry.

He also pointed out that 1800 cities of Rockland's size or larger have zoning ordinances, and none to his knowledge in entire United States except three small towns have ever repealed their zoning ordinances. People who have experienced zoning have learned not only of its worth, but its necessity.

Why Vote Dry

Strong Arguments Are Presented By Former North Haven Pastor

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

One does not need to be a fanatic in the matter of drink to recognize its menace to the country, and the need of doing something to curb the sale and use of intoxicants. It is estimated that there are 600,000 chronic alcoholics in the country, 2,000,000 moderate and occasional drinkers. Official figures for 1945 show 4 billions spent in liquors. In 1941 this jumped to seven billions. This represents $54 for every man, woman and child in these United States.

Our revenue from state stores in Maine is $7,500,000, a per capita payment of about $10. Add to this the money spent in these stores and Maine's contribution to the country's totals no mean sum. What does this revenue amount to when compared with the cost of drink in auto accidents, stimulated crimes, impaired health, broken homes and ruined lives? We will never get back prosperity until we curb the sale and use of these intoxicants and channel these sums into factories and farms, our businesses and stores, our schools and our churches.

Farmers get from 25 to 75 cents of the retail dollar spent for most of the important foods. He gets from four to seven cents of the retail dollar spent for these foods. Beer made from farm products if excise taxes are excluded and from 15 to 53 of the retail dollar if excise is included.

The vast amount of grain used in liquor production would have saved the lives of tens of thousands in these starving countries.

Imports from the Americas of whiskeys rose from one million dollars in 1938 to 35 millions in 1944. Banana imports dropped from 23 millions to 20 millions. Yes! We have no bananas. We think a few more bananas and less whiskey would be beneficial to the country.

From overseas and the E. T. O. there comes this distressing word in Miss Craig's letter in the Press Herald, namely the spread of these unmentionable diseases among United States soldiers. On V. E. day the rate was 75 for every thousand men.

Since V. E. the rate has become 264. What's the explanation? The U. S. Medical officers report 90% of these infections are with men who have been drinking too much.

One trouble with our politics and our diplomacy is they are too much alcohol soaked. Thomas Jefferson had this to say when he was president: "The habit of using ardent spirits by men in office has caused me more trouble and one more injury to the public than any other cause. One of the first questions I would ask of a candidate for office would be does he use ardent spirits."

Alcohol befuddles the brain and betrays the sense of self-judgment so that the drinker thinks he is being clever when he is making a fool of himself. Its President March of Boston University who has this to say: "The members of the United Nations would think more clearly and act more patriotically if there were less of this liquor."

That there should be these reports of drunkenness attending these diplomatic and international gatherings is a disgrace. Why make them a diplomatic convention?

What can we do about these things? One thing on Election Day we can support and vote for every measure that one has to do with the curbing of the sale and use of intoxicants, for the safety of our highways, the health and well-being of our people, for our own sakes and the sake of those who are to come after us.

This And That

By K. & F.

The "gardens" abutting our streets, when mowed, make a dreadful litter on the sidewalks. Some are kind enough and thoughtful in clearing this off; some are not, which makes our sidewalks look very untidy. Think of this please.

If that dreadful odor we have to breathe into our lungs is poison, and it is certainly bad enough to be, what next?

Never has Maine been more beautiful than this year. And we should be proud of our State.

Give me Thy harmony, O Lord, that I may understand the beauty of the sky.

And Thy great love that dwells in everything!

Little Betty was crying bitterly. Her mother asked what was the matter.

"Boo hoo! My new shoes hurt me!"

"Well, no wonder! You have them on the wrong feet," replied mother.

Betty kept on crying and would not be comforted. "I haven't any other feet," she protested.

State Can Stop It

Has Power To Prevent Invasion Of Canadian Lobster Fishermen

Maine's fish and wildlife service has sufficient authority, Senator Brewster has been told to halt the invasion of the State's lobster grounds by Canadian and other foreign fishermen.

Lobstermen along the coast of Washington County, have complained to the Senator that Canadian and other fishermen have been taking lobsters on the Mach's sea island grounds, pitching tents, ashore and selling the shellfish in competition with Americans.

The Federal Fish and Wildlife Service told Brewster that the State "can and does" exercise jurisdiction over waters within three miles of its shores and can bar outsiders. The State also can control landings of lobsters on Maine shores, wildlife officials stated.

The service has sent William C. Herrington to confer with Commissioner Reed of the Maine Sea and Shore Fisheries Commission in an effort to work out some friendly agreement in the matter.

Holstein Inspection

David & Joseph Chapman, Damariscotta, have recently had their herd inspected and classified for type. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces. Among the animals classified in this herd, two were designated "very good"—the second highest score an animal can receive; and two scored "good plus." The type classification, combined with a production testing program, is used as a means of proving sires and locating outstanding brood cow families in an owner's herd.
